Homemakers Items

Almost everyone wants to save time—and there are many quick ways to do routine household jobs, say VPI Extension workers.

Here are some examples—some of them may be old standbys in your kitchen ,others may be new.

Cook potatoes with the skins on, whether baked, boiled, or fried. You will improve the flavor and the nutritional value ,and save time. Use a plastic bag and rolling pin to make bread or cookie crumbs. Grease your skillet by rubbing it with the fatty edge of the chop you're going to cook. Sift flour onto waxed paper and eliminate a bowl to be washed. Measure your dry ingredients before liquid or sticky ones, and you won't need to stop and wash your measuring spoons or cups.

Add uncooked rice directly to tomatoes when making Spanish rice and similiar dishes. It will steam in the liquid and save using a seperate pan. Rice needs no washing before or after coking. If you cook your rice by using only twice as much water as rice, you won't have to wait for a large amount of water to come to a boil.

Add salt to cooking water after it begins to boil. Unsalted water boils sooner. Add a little fat or oil to the water in which you cook spaghetti or macaroni. This keeps it from boiling over.

If you stop to grease the molds in which you make gelatin they will unmold easier.

Prepare some foods for your meals in advance. For instance, bread your meat or fish for dinner at breakfast or lunch time. The breaded coating will stay on better after a few hours in your refrigerator.

Reminder Given For School On Pastures at Middleburg

Here's another reminder to farmers of the pasture school at Middleburg, Feb. 18 and 19.

Agronomists at VPI, who sponsor the school ,say the first day will be of particular interest to livestock men; the second day will be tailored for dairymen. Sessions on both days will begin at 9:45 A. M., at the community center at Middleburg.

Play safe — drive carefully.

A. H. S NEWS CAST

By
Peggy Godsey
Times-Virginia Reporter for A. H. S.
S. C. A.

The regular meeting of the S. C. A. was held February 5. The meeting was called to order by the president, Dennis Torrence. The president appointed a nominating committee as follows: chairman, Frank Burke; Walter Hancock, Peggy Godsey, Sandy Burks, Nancy Jo Kidd, Suzanne Gills, Peggy Lewis and Gaynell Martin. We discussed the eligibility of the students that were to be nominated. There will be two slates brought in for each office.

The president also appointed five students to attend a forum to be held at John Marshall High School, Richmond, on Saturday, February 21. They are as follows: delegates, Walter Hancock, Myron Richardson, Charles Gills, Anne Martin and L. N. Garrett; alternates, Sandy Burks, Dennis Torrence, and Peggy Godsey. The two-hour program will feature participation by approximately twenty students from around the world who are attending school in Virginia this year.

Beta Club

The Beta Club met on Friday, February 6. The president called the meeting to order and the secretary called the roll and read the minutes. There was no new business to be discussed.

The meeting was then turned over to the program chairman, Peggy Godsey, who, with the aid of Louella Martin, Eloise Rosser, L. N. Garrett and Myron Richardson, presented an interesting program , entitled, "Personal Charm."

After the program, it was decided that the executive committee and C. Ann Martin and M. Ann Martin, would serve as the nominating committee. It will be their duty to nominate candidates to run for offices for the next year.
—Charles Gills, Reporter.

Health and Beauty

Children have delicate nervous systems. Do not give them tea, coffee, and cola drinks. Such drinks are too stimulating for them and are only to blame for the restlessness and sleeplessness of the child, but for his not drinking his milk which is so essential to his welfare.

Doctors are plagued by the mothers asking what to do about the finicky child who will not eat at meal time. Remember that children who are properly nourished are seldom fussy about their food, and parents are often to blame if they are.

If the parents won't eat certain wholesome, nutritious foods and make their likes and dislikes a topic of conversation at the table in the presence of the children, the children follow in their footsteps. Children are very imitative.

Meal time should be one of the pleasantest hours of the day. If children are scolded, threatened or frightened at meal times, it will take away their appetites, or if they eat under such circumstances, indigestion will be almost sure to follow.

Let meals be served at regular intervals, Ring a warning bell that means that the children must wash their hands and get ready to come to the table.

Do not feed a child on knick-knacks and sweets between meals. That is a sure way to spoil the appetite and prevent him from eating plain, substantial food — with the result that he is pale, anemic and undernourished.

When a child is hungry and asks for something to eat between meals, offer him whole wheat bread and butter or milk and bread, or fruits — all wholesome between - meal foods. If children refuse them, they are not hungry, and should do without eating until meal time.

Constipation in children can usually be traced to a diet that is not sufficiently laxative and to not drinking enough water. Everyone requires plenty of water and you should make sure that the children drink it between meals.

Many persons have had health fastened upon them for life because their mothers gave them drugs for constipation instead of the right diet.

Show-Off

Foreman: Why is it you carry only one plank at a time when all the other men on the job carry two?

Worker: I suppose they are just too lazy to make the extra trips like I do.
